

Translations & Publications Management Toolkit

Distribution Policy

- The Publisher has the resources necessary to print, distribute and store the Works, maintaining high levels of in-stock inventory, and reasonably short lead times to fulfill orders.
- The products of are good quality, adhering to all points in the KRI Printed Materials Quality Standards document.
- The Works and Translations must be made available to all KRI certified schools, programs, and kundalini yoga sangats in specified Territory without bias or prejudice between customers.
- Exclusively for Aquarian Teacher Book and Manual: Publisher acknowledges and agrees to sell copies of the materials, in physical form only, to individuals who have partaken or will partake in a KRI Level One program. Individuals who may buy copies of the work must be confirmed participants of a KRI Level One program. Sales are not to be made outside the parameters described in this paragraph.
- KRI materials are used in a way that empowers the local community and provides opportunities for local leaders, teachers, and students.
- The Publisher assumes the responsibility of providing the materials for customers in whichever city in the designated Territory the customers need. If proven the impossibility of such, and if the work is indispensable for trainers, teachers, and students, KRI has the prerogative of providing copies to customers, or contracting for limit print-runs of certain Works and Translations.
- It is standard KRI protocol not to offer exclusivity over specific territory to any of our partners for any amount of time. This does not mean that KRI gives multiple TA and/or FPA for the same book title in the same language.
 - In other words, if you have proposed to translate and publish, say, Sadhana Guideline into Spanish, for the valid term you are the only one responsible for publishing and distributing it. Exceptions are made in cases where KRI has to give special agreement for Outreach area, where books are difficult to arrive given many difficult circumstances, such as juridical, political and economic.
